

Dr. James Loewen

notable historian and author of “Lies My Teacher Told Me”

Wednesday, January 28
NMU Campus
Marquette, Mich.

Three dynamic presentations

11:00 a.m. ~ 12:30 p.m.

“Lies my Teacher Told me about Native Americans.”
Whitman Commons ~ Whitman Hall

4:00 ~ 5:30 p.m.

“Lies my Teacher Told Me and How to do Better”
Whitman Commons ~ Whitman Hall

7:00 ~ 8:30 p.m.

“The Most Important Era in U.S.
History that you never heard of, and why it is still important today”
Location TBD

*“The study of the past is supposed to help us make sense of our place in history and inform the choices we make every day.
But what if the lessons we were taught in American History class were not true?”*

From Dr. Loewen’s official website
<http://sundown.afro.illinois.edu/>

For more information contact NMU history professor Dr. Gabe Logan at 906-227-1744 or the NMU Center for Native American Studies at 906-227-1397.

Dr. Loewen’s visit to Northern Michigan University is made possible by the Center for Native American Studies, the College of Arts and Sciences, the College of Health Sciences and Professional Studies, the Department of History, and the School of Education, Leadership and Public Service.

